Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 08 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry and cloudy today. Rain on Friday.

Today:
Today starting dry but cloudy for most. Occasional breaks in the cloud through the day will result in sunny spells for some, but the odd spot of drizzle or isolated shower is possible. Noticeably less cold than recently. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Tonight continuing much as today, dry and cloudy for most with the odd patch or drizzle or shower possible. Generally less cloudy, with clear spells more likely. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Friday:
A mostly fine morning with plenty of sunshine. Some rain will most likely arrive from the north later, though this will be scattered and light, with some areas remaining dry. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Turning colder again this weekend with showers in the east, whilst western areas should remain drier and sunnier. Monday is looking dry with a mix of cloud and sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.